

A little extra money could go a long way for US adults

Article

For more insights and key statistics on the biggest trends in today's most disruptive industries, subscribe to our Chart of the Day newsletter.

Nearly 7 in 10 US adults say if they had extra money, they would put it in savings or toward an emergency fund. Only 11% say they would use the money to purchase a material item, showing most US adults aren't feeling financially impulsive right now.

What US Adults Would Do if They Had Extra Money, Feb 2021

% of respondents

Put in savings account or use it to build an emergency fund 69%

11% Purchase a material item

8% Purchase a service to save time

Note: ages 18+

Source: CIT Bank, "Time & Money Survey," March 4, 2020

264466

eMarketer | InsiderIntelligence.com

More like this:

- Report: The US Wealth Management Ecosystem
- Article: Broadridge acquires institutional trading platform Itiviti in consolidation play
- Article: Stimulus payments may lead to a post-pandemic boom in spending and economic revival